NuRAN Collaborates with the Telecom Infra Project to Deliver OC-2G, a 2G Open Source Platform & OC-SDR

NuRAN Wireless is working in collaboration with the Telecom Infra Project ("TIP") as original equipment manufacturer (OEM) and distributor of OC-2G & OC-SDR, open source wireless platforms developed for the OpenCellular initiative.

NuRAN will supply and support OC-2G & OC-SDR, disruptive open-source and cost-effective wireless access platforms specifically designed to improve Internet and mobile connectivity in remote areas that are expected to be launched at the end of Q4 2017.

This initiative is part of the Telecom Infra Project (<https://telecominfraproject.com>) founded in 2016, an engineering-focused initiative driven by operators, suppliers, developers, integrators, and startups to disaggregate the traditional network deployment approach.

Founding members of the TIP include:

NuRAN Retained by the TIP as a Development Partner for the OC-LTE Platform

At Mobile World Congress 2017, the largest mobile gathering in the world, it was announced that NuRAN was also retained by the Telecom Infra Project to develop, in collaboration with Cavium & Keysight, the newer OpenCellular platform made specifically for LTE.

 CAVIUM designed the digital portion of the platform

 nuRAN WIRELESS designed the front-end section of the platform
Reaching Everyone, Everywhere

 KEYSIGHT TECHNOLOGIES designed the testbed
